This book is part of the Calendar Girl series. It's the happiest day of Vicky's life. The day of her wedding.

She's marrying the man of her dreams. There has never been a more delicious stretch of perfectly packaged male. With deep blue eyes and thick, silky brown hair that glows russet in the sun, Brady has a face that would tempt a nun. Although the personification of male sensuality and raw masculine power, Brady guards a deep vulnerability and keeps hidden a haunting secret from his past. There's only one woman he wants beneath his long frame on his wedding night. He longs for her with every beat of his idealistic, romantic heart. Vicky just needs to make sure she is that woman.
